

TRANSEARCH opens New Offices in Eastern Europe

New Office in Poland

Beata Zytka, who has a more than 16 years' experience in the toplevel executive search industry, manages the office. She has conducted senior level searches for clients in Poland, Central and Eastern Europe. She says: "This is an exciting time for Eastern Europe as we find ourselves with a robust economy and continued foreign investment. I am sure that my team will be a real asset to the other TRANSEARCH offices to provide a seamless executive search service for our clients."

New Office in St. Petersburg

Olga Chebotkova manages the office in St. Petersburg. She has widespread experience gained from FMCG and has conducted numerous assignments for Russian and multinational companies. The teams in Moscow and St. Petersburg specialise in all the major sectors. The picture below shows the location of the TRANSEARCH Office in St. Petersburg.

New Office in Moscow

Stanislav Alexeyev, Managing Partner, has more than 14-years' experience in executive search. Stanislav has worked with several multinational as well as local search firms and established his own firm in 2001. He has conducted search assignments all over Russia and has a civil engineering and business education background. Stanislav shared the following: "Russia is the largest country in the world and for the year of 2007, Russia's GDP is projected to grow to about $1.2 trillion nominally, which would make Russia the second largest economy in Europe. With uncompromising standards and a clear vision, we will be able to meet all the challenges that this exciting time will bring. TRANSEARCH is the perfect global partner for us, as their commitment to quality is second to none!"
